

Anatomy of a Reducer

Wednesday, May 11, 2016
2:25 PM

A reducer is a fitting in a pipeline that reduces the pipe size from a larger to a smaller diameter. Reducers are usually concentric but eccentric reducers are used when required to maintain the same top-or bottom-of-pipe level.

Concentric Reducer

Eccentric Reducer